DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeh et al. US 6,319,807, in view of Chong et al. US 6,534,390.

Yeh et al. discloses a semiconductor device and a method of making including a gate structure on a substrate, the gate being adjacent to a dielectric material (290) having a top surface, including removing material in the gate region (240A), forming a gate dielectric (315), forming the gate coplanar to the dielectric material (320) and forming silicide contact in the gate region (330) in contact with gate (see figs. 2H-I and related text).

Yeh et al. does not teach the silicide method of forming a silicide forming metal layer over a silicon layer on the gate.

Chong et al. teaches forming silicon layer on the gate and a silicide forming metal over the silicon layer and forming the silicide (see figs. 7-10 and related text).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the method of Chong et al. in the formation of the device of Yeh et al., because it better controls the formation of the silicide layer and provides better device performance.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
